I ask that you seek to dismiss the case against Microsoft and allow them to continue to create and innovate in a free market environment. If there were TRUE competition, i.e. GOOD alternative software, people would be lining up to use it and BUY it. However, that is not the case, therefore the providers of inferior products have chosen to spend their money on attorneys rather than research and development. Let us put this lawsuit behind us so that Microsoft can get on with the business of doing business and not protecting themselves from frivolous lawsuits.

Sincerely,

Robert C. Adams
